BUILDING HEALTHY COMMUNITIES TOGETHER

Dear Colleague,

We are excited to share communications and marketing materials from our 2017-2018 “Hidden Sugar” public information campaign for use in your community health promotion and prevention efforts. Sugary drinks are the number one source of added calories in our diet and a leading cause of childhood obesity.

The Hidden Sugar campaign focuses on educating parents and caregivers of young children ages 0-6 about how much sugar is in different types of drinks they give their kids, the risks of sugary drink consumption and alternatives to drinking sugary drinks.

This toolkit includes:

- ◆ Talking points for the campaign
- ◆ Facts and stats related to sugary drinks consumption
- ◆ Tools and resources to create change

You can request materials and graphics by emailing denverpublichealth@dhha.org.

The Healthy Beverage Partnership (HBP) is a regional effort to reduce obesity and chronic diseases in seven counties in the Denver metropolitan area. HBP is made up of six lead agencies, Boulder County Public Health, Broomfield Public Health and Environment, Denver Environmental Health, Denver Public Health, Jefferson County Public Health and Tri-County Health Department. HBP is sponsored by the Colorado Department of Public Health and Environment through the Cancer, Cardiovascular and Pulmonary Disease (CCPD) Grants Program.

We understand there are many ways to encourage healthy options when it comes to choosing water over sugary drinks. Our intent in sharing these materials is to make it easy for you to join us in empowering parents and caregivers to keep their kids at a healthy weight by decreasing the amount of sugary drinks they give their kids.

We look forward to working with you to create healthier communities in the Denver Metro area. If you are interested in supporting HBP by adopting a healthy meeting, concessions or vending policy, please contact Maria.Smith@dhha.org.

Sincerely,

The Healthy Beverage Partnership

QUICK FACTS:

TALKING POINTS

WHO ARE WE?

- The Healthy Beverage Partnership is a regional effort to reduce obesity and related chronic diseases in seven Denver Metro counties.
- The “Hidden Sugar” campaign was developed to educate parents and caregivers about how much hidden sugar is in the different types of drinks often consumed by children, the harms of sugary drink consumption and healthier alternatives.

WHY SUGARY BEVERAGES?

- Consumption of sugary beverages is the single largest contributor of calories and added sugars to our diet. These calories contribute to weight gain and provide little to no nutritional value.
- One 10 oz. bottle of Fruit Punch has 38g of sugar, equivalent to about 10 chocolate chip cookies.
- In Colorado, approximately 1 in 3 adults and 1 in 5 children consume at least one sugary drink per day.
- By drinking one sugary drink a day, a child has 25% increased risk of developing type 2 diabetes, 55% greater risk of being overweight or obese, and 150% greater risk of developing fat deposits in their liver, contributing to diabetes and heart disease.
- Sugary drinks are associated with nearly twice the risk of dental cavities in children.
- In Colorado, sugary drink consumption is disproportionately high among Hispanic youth. Health outcomes such as being overweight and developing diabetes are also higher among Hispanic youth compared to non-Hispanic white youth.

DO YOU KNOW WHERE SUGAR HIDES?

We all know eating too much sugar is bad for our health, but do you know just how much sugar is in many of the drinks we give our kids?

Sugar hides in many drinks, including juice drinks, soda, energy drinks, sports drinks and even chocolate milk. In fact, there's 7.6 teaspoons of sugar in one 10 oz bottle of fruit punch, the same as 10 chocolate chip cookies!

To keep kids healthy, skip drinks with sugar in them and give kids water instead. Reducing the amount of sugar kids get from drinks is easy.

Just follow these tips:

- Carry a refillable cup or water bottle.
- Choose healthier vending and menu options.
- Serve water during sports events and parties.
- Serve water flavored with fruit slices (lemon, berries, cucumbers) at parties.

¿SABES DONDE SE ESCONDE EL AZÚCAR?

Todos sabemos que comer demasiada azúcar es malo para la salud, ¿pero sabías cuanta azúcar contienen las bebidas que les damos a nuestros hijos?

El azúcar se esconde en muchas bebidas, incluidos los jugos, los refrescos, las bebidas energizantes, las bebidas deportivas y hasta en la leche de chocolate. De hecho, en una botella de 10 onzas de ponche de frutas, se encuentran 7.6 cucharaditas de azúcar, ¡igual que 10 galletas con chispas de chocolate!

Para mantener sanos a los niños, evita las bebidas con azúcar y mejor dales agua. Reducir la cantidad de azúcar que los niños consumen en las bebidas es fácil.

Solo sigue los siguientes consejos:

- Lleva un vaso o botella de agua que puedas volver a llenar.
- Elige opciones más sanas en máquinas expendedoras y menús.
- Sirve agua en los eventos deportivos y en las fiestas.
- En las fiestas, sirve agua saborizada con rodajas de frutas (limones, fresas, pepinos).

[ORGANIZATION NAME] IS PARTNERING WITH THE HEALTHY BEVERAGE PARTNERSHIP TO LAUNCH A CAMPAIGN EDUCATING PARENTS AND CAREGIVERS ABOUT HIDDEN SUGAR

[CITY], CO – Many parents and caregivers are not aware of the hidden sugar in many of the beverages that they give to their children. That’s why the Healthy Beverage Partnership in conjunction with [ORGANIZATION NAME] is promoting a new campaign aimed at educating parents and caregivers about the harmful effects of sugar and informing them of the high sugar content in many of the beverages they may be giving to their kids.

Sugary beverages are the single largest contributor of calories to our diet. By drinking just one sugary drink a day, a child has 25% increased risk of developing type 2 diabetes, 55% greater risk of being overweight or obese, and 150% greater risk of developing fat deposits in their liver, contributing to diabetes and heart disease.

“The ‘Hidden Sugar’ campaign was designed to bring to light the many surprising places where sugar can hide,” said [ORGANIZATION EMPLOYEE] “You would never give your child 10 cookies for breakfast, but that’s exactly what you’re doing when you give them a 10 oz bottle of fruit punch. And most parents don’t realize that.”

Through simple graphics, the Hidden Sugar campaign compares the sugar levels of sugary drinks like juice drinks, sports drinks, and soda to the sugar levels found in sugary foods and desserts, such as cookies, donuts, popsicles, and more. The campaign also promotes healthier options including tap or fruit infused water.

Details on the Hidden Sugar campaign can be found at Hidden-Sugar.org
